First we go inside...

Using proven methods of NLP (Neuro-Linguistic Programming) merged with practical spirituality, the first four days focus on going inside for alignment: exploring values, core energy, life beliefs and mind-body health, assessing where you are and creating solid outcomes. Through this process you'll create clarity, a strong foundation—and kickstart transformation.

...And then we go outside.

The next four days focus on going outside to enhance your relationships, lifework, prosperity, robust health and making a difference in the larger world. We go inside deeply to come outside freely and authentically.
